

East 10th St.
corner of City Hall.
Trenton Evening Times.

Nov 18/1922.

Trenton Evening Times.

Mrs Gibson Typist in Marshall Murder.

Informant in murder cases is not a new role for Mrs Jane Gibson, whose testimony is playing so important a part in the sensational Halls, Mills slaying. Mrs Gibson who lived in Trenton before going to New Brunswick, her last address then being 338 South Broad St. where she kept a second hand store and rooming house, was among those who offered aid to the city authorities in solving the mystery of the brutal and fatal attack on Miss Lucella Marshall along the Pennington road about 10 years ago.

Mrs Gibson reported a conversation relative to the death of Miss Marshall, which she claimed to have ^{over}heard, but her information is said to have proved valueless, a short time after the incident she moved from Trenton.

p2

TRENTON EVENING NEWS
NOV. 18, 1922

MRS. GIBSON TIPSTER IN MARSHALL MURDER

Informant in murder cases is not a new role for Mrs. Jane Gibson, whose testimony is playing so important a part in the sensational Hall Mills slaying. Mrs. Gibson, who lived in Trenton before going to New Brunswick, her last address here being 338 South Broad Street, where she kept a second hand store and rooming house, was among those who offered aid to the city authorities in solving the mystery of the brutal and fatal attack on Miss Luella Marshall along the Pennington Road about ten years ago.

Mrs. Gibson reported a conversation relative to the death of Miss Luella Marshall, which she claimed to have overheard, but her information is said to have proved valueless. A short time after the incident she moved from Trenton.
